IT RUNS IN THE FAMILY

BRENT AND Janice Scranton, from the Vandalia 4-H club, swept the market lambs division of the 1968 Tulare County fair, Brent showing the grand champion and Janice showing the reserve champion. But this is not surprising, in a way, since their mother, Loretta Muller Scranton, moved into the charmed circle at Tulare with her grand champion steer as a Ducor 4-H club member about 20 years ago. Top photo shows Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, who purchased the 1968 grand champion lamb for $3.10 a pound, with Loretta and Brent; second photo shows Loretta with her 1947 grand champion steer; lower photo is Janice Scranton, with her 1968 reserve champion lamb. Incidentally, when the Scrantons were setting up their project lambs, Janice sold Brent the lamb that beat her lamb for grand champion honors. Oh well, sisters can't win 'em all from little brothers.

COTTON RESEARCH MEET OCT. 4

STRATHMORE - Cotton growers in Tulare county will be given a chance to observe field studies conducted by U.S.D.A. and University of California researchers from Shafter at an Open House on Friday, October 4, from 9:30 till 12:00.

This tour will be at the Cotton Research Field laboratory at the Leon Wilcox ranch near Strathmore. Major effort at this research site is to improve the Verticillium wilt tolerance of present cotton strains according to Farm Advisor Alan G. George.

Dr. H. B. Cooper, in charge of the cotton breeding program at the Shafter Research station, has a number of promising cottons being tested under several wilt conditions.

A variety and strain test will be shown, which includes a comparison of the best wilt-tolerant varieties and strains now available for commercial plantings. The lines test will also be viewed according to George. This is the first stage of strain testing using replicated plots. These new lines came directly from the breeding nursery and are being compared with Acala SJ-1 and Acala 4-42 (1966).

The Field Research laboratory consists of 24 acres of heavily wilt infested land. This site is being made available to the cotton breeders under

Editorial Comment

LET'S KEEP THE LAKE CLOSED

Last year sportsmen's organizations of the valley, including the Southern Tulare County Sportsmen's association, rallied 'round with words and political pressure to assure legislation that would keep Big Kern lake closed to fishing and allow it to remain a natural trout production area.

With this we agreed.

But Big Kern lake, as a closed-to-fishing area is a joke. Signs that formerly were evident along trails, around the lake, and along a section of Kern river leading into the lake that is also closed to fishing, have disappeared - they've been torn down and destroyed.

The lake, and the closed section of river, is being fished - fished considerably, in fact. Empty bait boxes, wadded up cigarette packages, bent beer cans, and leaders snagged in brush attest to this.

In the "old days," a packer, or a fearless fisherman would slip into the big lake now and then and bring out a trophy trout. But the closure of the lake was reasonably well enforced.

Now, however, fishermen hit the closed waters with apparent regularity, some of them knowing they are breaking the law, some of them not knowing that the lake is closed because no "Closed" signs are any longer in evidence.

So, we say this.

Whose ever job it is to see that the Big Kern lake is posted had better get at it. Whose ever job it is to enforce the law at Big Kern lake better get at it.

And those sportsmen's groups that were so anxious to keep the lake closed might well pay a bit of attention to what is going on, and exert a bit of that political pressure of which they are capable, to keep Big Kern lake closed in actuality, not just closed on a piece of legislative paper.

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER, JR.

The long simmering, fundamental issue of whether farm workers in California should be forced to join a union against their wishes has come to a boil again during the past few months.

Heartened by the embrace of the new left and comforted by support of the liberal wing of the Democratic Party, Cesar Chavez, who has been unable to convince California farm workers that they should join his union, has stepped up efforts to promote "the biggest boycott in the history of the labor movement" against the purchase of all California table grapes.

It would be fascinating, of course, if California retaliated in kind against any states participating in the illegal boycott of this state's products. Michigan, for instance, where Detroit Mayor Jerry Cavanagh has dutifully joined the boycotters, would be in for a great time if California suddenly boycotted the Michigan-based automobile industry. The same game, of course, could be played in relation to the products and services of any state.

The political facts of life in California suggest that candidates for public office from this state who support the boycott efforts are asking for a taste of the bitter dregs of defeat at the polls.

This is no ordinary labor dispute. California growers are not opposed to unions and a great number of them who are in the shipping business have union contracts for employees in packing houses. What the growers make clear is that they oppose placing farm workers under the National Labor Relations Act, like industrial workers. The reason for the opposition is that growers, unlike steel producers, can be ruined by strikes against perishable crops at harvest time. For this reason the growers insist that enforceable no-strike clauses must be included in any legislation providing for collective bargaining for farm workers.

California farm workers, it should be understood, are well paid, well protected and well cared for. The National Labor Relations Board already has ruled that the grape boycott is illegal and has taken action against four unions in New York City to stop them from engaging in secondary boycott activities against the purchase or sale of California table grapes.

Chavez' efforts to organize farm workers have been pretty much a failure. For three years the union has tried unsuccessfully to sell grape pickers on joining the union. They have remained on the job and the grapes have been picked. This is the reason for the boycott attempt.

The issue is one which can-

MONEY POURS into a silver trophy earned by the Porterville chamber of commerce with a first place county fair booth back in 1920, as merchants of downtown Porterville start planning and fund-raising for dedication of the new Free-Park parking lots that are being completed in Porterville. Dedication date, originally announced as early in November, has been postponed to avoid conflict with the Veterans' Homecoming celebration on November 11, to December 5-6-7, with the merchants' annual Christmas parade scheduled for December 7. Various 'Truths' Are Being Stretched As Billions Spent For War on Poverty

UNCLE CLARENCE

... from CLEAR CREEK

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle told the fellers at the country store Saturday night he was thinking about taking up the preaching profession. He said the Lord couldn't save the country for the eternal life until we got it saved from the Congress. He reported he had been working on his first sermon, had took for his text "The Money Pipe System," and would like to try it out on the fellers.

Clem Webster, that had a hunch what was coming, offered a reserution that Ed didn't have no license to preach and was agin him using the store for a pulpit. But the fellers voted down Clem's reserution and told Ed to percede without interuption.

First off, said Ed, the Guvernment had got to be nothing but a money pipe from the taxpayer to the tax user and they was so many holes in the pipe the money never gits to the other end. He had some figgers from a Washington column writer where $53 million was assigned to the war on poverty in Detroit from 1964 through 1967 and ended up with only $13 million ever gitting to the battlefield. The rest leaked thru holes in the pipe, like one feller that was paying hisself $14,000 a year and paying his wife $11,000 to study the needs of the pore folks in Detroit that never got nothing. And this same column writer had figgers where $37 million had gone through the money pipe fer a public housing project in St. Louis and all they done was tear down one story slums and build $37 million worth of three-story slums.

Zeke Grubb butted in to say he was agreed with Ed, that the Congress was demanding "truth in packaging" and "truth in lending" but was giving away billions fer aid to poverty and nobody but the Lord above knowed where half of it was going. He said he was in favor of a "truth in aid" law.

Ed said he appreciated them remarks from Zeke but he would like to git on with his sermon. It wasn't too long ago, allowed Ed, that a man that was able to work and wouldn't work was a bum, but we don't have no bums no more. They have got on the permanent welfare rolls and was living high on the hog. Fer instant, said Ed, one welfare worker looked into a case and the unemployed Daddy of the family was gitting $275 more a month than the welfare worker was making. It ain't no wonder, allowed Ed, that them Guvernment workers punch holes in the money pipe ever chanct they git. Ed ended up his sermon by advising that the people take the money pipe away from the Congress and launch it in space from Cape Canaveral.

Personal, Mister Editor, I think Ed had a pritty good sermon, but his church would move him on to another pasture the first time he preached it.

Yours truly,
Uncle Clarence.

Cattle are moving off high summer ranges into lower pastures, stubble fields, feed lots and market channels.

PANTHERS GET TEST FRIDAY; PIRATES AT HOME SATURDAY

After disposing of a highly regarded Tulare Western 26-6 last week the Porterville High School Panthers step up the competition this week as they travel to South High in Bakersfield for an encounter with the tough Rebels.

The Rebs took top honors at the Bakersfield Carnival last week and the word is that they can do it all. For the second year the Rebel offense is powered by talented Brent McClanahan, a 180 pound swift who can run over you if he gets the inclination. The big all-league performer led his South high team mates to wins in both of their 15 minute games in the aforementioned carnival, as he piled up 74 yards in the quickie with North High, with his longest jaunt being a 44 yarder. By way of completing his evening's work McClanahan tossed a 20-yard scoring pass off the halfback option play. Rebel quarterback Mark Hance, a "B" class graduate, directs the Grey attack and displayed better than adequate accuracy in the throwing department.

The fast-developing Panthers proved a lot to themselves Friday night as they dismantled a Tulare Western eleven that was rumored to be deep, tough and a threat in the East Sequoia league. Coach Bob Otto's troops were ready as Junior quarterback Richard Bland appears to have reached the heights predicted for him last year. The Panthers got good performances from a whole host of running backs. Leading the way were Big Steve Brown, Dave Gonzales, and Fran Torigian.

In South High the Panthers face a severe test. The PUHS coaching staff has been working overtime rebuilding the Orange and Green secondary and the versatile Grey offense will place a lot of stress on the deep backs. It could be won or lost back there.

Well, as Jack said as he slid down the beanstalk, "You fool with a Giant, man, and he'll grind your bones to get a top 10 rating." Witnesses at Mineral King bowl in Visalia Saturday night agree that the COS-type Giant rates with the best in JC circles.

Coach Sim Iness's Pirates slugged it out with the Giants on fairly even terms for the first half, but were overrun by the big, fast Giants in the second half. The Pirates again show a susceptibility to the "bomb" as the Giants twice burned the PC secondary with long scoring tosses.

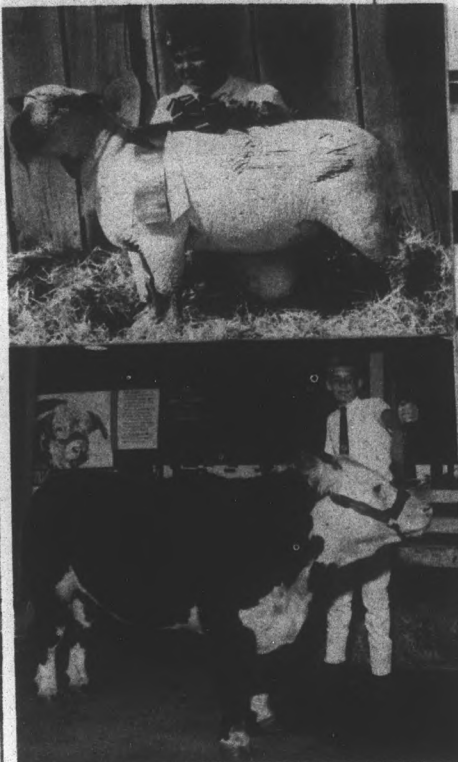

The Pirates will reorganize Saturday night as they meet Barstow, at home in Jamison stadium.

Fall Farm Activities Moving Along

VISALIA - Fall activities on Tulare county farms continue to move along nicely, what with moderate weather and a good growing season.

HOW'S THIS FOR A "MORTGAGE LIFTER?"

THAT'S $1,130 worth of hog, at $5.00 per pound, shown above - the grand champion of the junior division of the 1968 Tulare County fair, exhibited by Patty Burner, of the Palo Verde 4-H club. The hog was purchased by Manual Cardoza. Patty also showed the reserve 4-H champion, for which she received $2.09 per pound. What's she going to do with all that money? Patty says it goes into the bank to help with her education. At upper left is Brent Scranton, Vandalia 4-H, with his grand champion lamb of the show, that was bought for $3.10 a pound by Assemblyman Gordon Duffy; at lower left is Richard Bennett, also Vandalia 4-H, with his grand champion steer that went for 80 cents a pound to State Senator Howard Way.

Cotton bolls are opening fast in most fields, however, damage is being reported from wilt; defoliation is getting underway. Blackeye beans are being cut and windrowed, with some harvesting underway; field and silage corn is being cut.

Some Emperor grapes have been picked for export; Thompson grape harvest for the fresh market has been completed; picking of winery grapes is in full swing; olive and pomegranate harvest is underway; walnut, almond and pistacio nuts are being harvested.

Late-planted tomatoes, string beans and potatoes are making good growth.

OUR TOWN

By Ruth Loyd

I'm sorry I missed last week, but I was planting pansies. You didn't know I was a pansy planter did you? I got lots of steer stuff and peat moss and if they don't grow I am going to fix John Daybell good. I also got some sweet pea seeds, but they haven't come up. I'll let you know when they do. I know you just can't wait to find out.

Over on the coast they have San Simeon which is a nice layout, but now we have the Bennett castles we can be proud of. The two Bennett boys and their lovely wives are in their new houses. What a view they have. Overlooking the orange groves, and the Sierra. I don't think they are running busses up to the houses yet, but that would be a nice touch. I'm sure Margaret and Terry would love bus loads of people tramping through their nice new houses. Anyway the two beautiful new homes are certainly an asset to OUR TOWN. They fit into the surrounding hills so beautifully.

Speaking of houses. Have you noticed the house at 339 East Putnam? Someone has a lot of unique imagination. I especially like the side yard. There is a delightful hobby horse, and wagon wheels all painted bright colors, and the window in the garage door looks like an old Bendix Washing machine door. It fits perfectly into the door, and really looks great. Someone is very clever and loves to work with his hands. The children coming home from school enjoy the side yard as much as I do.

Then there is the house next to the eighth tee on the golf course. The owners are putting in an indoor swimming pool. You can check the progress of the swimming pool while you are waiting for your partner to shoot. Talk about elegant. Wow.

Lots of new houses are going in around the Tule River ranch. Some are so attractive and isn't it funny how houses reflect the character of the owners. You can almost tell by the drapes what kind of people live there.

Happiness is Fall weather in OUR TOWN.

Humming bird feeders have continued to sell like crazy. In fact these feeders were voted number one by the local humming bird group meeting recently on their Porterville perch. This poll proved conclusively that our feeders are truly "for the birds." Hardly anyone else can make that statement.

Also for the birds are ranunculus, snapdragon, pansies, garden seed, and winter lettuce. The little devils enjoy these from the minute they can see the green before their eyes. Some loss can be avoided by planting well started seedlings that grow faster than the birds can eat. Otherwise a portable cover of chicken wire is the only salvation.

If you would rather feed the gophers we have a delicious assortment in bulbs. Tulips are particularly choice morsels followed closely by hyacinths and Dutch iris. The secret with tulips is to put them in the refrigerator - not the freezer - for a month before planting. Then by the time they are warm enough to eat, the gopher has given up and gone elsewhere. Some people feel also that this forces the bulb dormant and results in long stemmed flowers. Which is a rather narrow minded view.

More of this great garden information may be obtained on "E" St. north of Olive, Porterville.
